The Warbird is a thrilling and inspiring story of three heroes who fought in two different wars. From the beaches of Normandy to the skies over Vietnam, these men risked their lives for their country. Their story is a reminder of the courage, sacrifice, and resilience of the men and women who have served in our armed forces.

The book begins with the story of John D. "Bud" Hawk, a young man from rural Ohio who joined the Army Air Forces in 1942. Hawk was assigned to the 352nd Fighter Group, one of the most decorated fighter groups in the war. He flew 58 combat missions over Europe, including the D-Day invasion and the Battle of the Bulge.

After the war, Hawk returned home and became a successful businessman. But he never forgot the men he served with, and he was determined to tell their story. In 1988, he published The Warbird, a memoir of his experiences during the war.

The Warbird also tells the story of two other heroes: Jack Broughton and Ralph "Ed" Ely. Broughton was a member of the 101st Airborne Division, and he fought in the Battle of the Bulge. Ely was a Marine Corps pilot who flew 101 combat missions over Vietnam.

The three men came from different backgrounds and served in different wars, but they shared a common bond: they were all heroes. They were men who risked their lives for their country, and they were men who never gave up.

The Warbird is a powerful and moving story that will stay with you long after you finish reading it. It is a story of courage, sacrifice, and resilience. It is a story that will make you proud to be an American.
